

TRANSFORM Webinar series:

"Sustainability-as-flourishing: Infusing new skills for a sustainable future"

This free webinar offers a new approach to sustainability in higher education. It includes suggestions for educators to integrate sustainability-as-flourishing into their practice. To date, sustainability-as-flourishing is underdeveloped in the education literature. It includes suggestions for educators to integrate sustainability-as-flourishing into their practice. This webinar critiques current approaches to sustainability, which often reflect a narrow understanding of human needs and do not demand necessary transformation in the way we interact with the world around us. It then provides an overview of sustainability-as-flourishing and its various stages. This webinar will be held on July 22, 2022 (10 a.m. Chile time zone).

International speakers:

Dr. John R. Ehrenfeld

Senior Research Faculty
MIT (Retired); author of The Right Way to Flourish; Flourishing; and Sustainability by Design (USA)

Antony Upward, CMC

Co-Founder of Strongly
Sustainable Business Model Group
– SSBM (Canada).

Fernando Vera, PhD

Founder & CEO, REDIIIE (Chile); pursuing his second PhD at University of the Basque Country
(Spain)

Alejandra Vidal, MsC (Moderator)
Universidad EAFIT (Colombia)

Register here:

<https://forms.gle/hSk8mkGKeS5XZdaL9>